ON THE ROAD AGAIN

First of Scion's FR-S vehicle sports cars arrive in South Florida

BY RICH POLLACK

Jason Glenn was giving his brand-new car a once over while it was still on the porch of the Fort Lauderdale dealership last Saturday, when a visitor to the store and his son came by and asked if they could take a few pictures.

Glenn nodded, knowing full well that there would be plenty more requests in the next few days for pictures of his car.

Chances are that by now, Glenn and his car have been widely photographed at stoplights, in parking lots or while just cruising down the street because his car is a new Scion FR-S, one of only 86 on the road in the U.S. – at least for right now.

If your image of a Scion is the boxy xB, then the 2013 FR-S is going to come as a shock to you because this Scion is a rear-wheel drive sports coupe unlike anything else Scion – or for that matter its parent company, Toyota Motors – has in its dealerships today.

And with a price tag of just around $24,000 for a base model, this two-door road-hugging driving machine could soon become one of the hottest-selling cars in the sports coupe segment.

"This is a whole new direction for Scion and Toyota," says JR Merritt, general sales manager at Lipton Toyota in
